Genetic Excellence®

Feed conversion has never been more important than today.

That's why we started selecting for it generations ago.

Feed conversion is not a new concept at Hy-Line. Our never-ending research goal has been selecting layers that produce more eggs with higher egg mass on less feed. And since we started that research project in 1936, generations of efficient, high performance layers have been successfully adding to the profitability of egg producers around the world. And will be for generations to come.

More eggs—less feed; that's the Hy-Line advantage.

Genetic Excellence®

We make better eggs,

that hatch
better layers,

that earn better profits!

Better eggs and better layers. That's what makes you more profitable. And when the eggs your layers produce are consistently better, the more money you make. It's simple, better genetics result in better profits. And when you rely on the genetic excellence developed by Hy-Line, you can expect the best.
